

GOD/GODDESS PEER REVIEW

Welcome to our presentation day! As a Greek God/Goddess present within our classroom today, you take on a tremendous responsibility. It is up to you to not only pay attention to peer presentations, but also provide useful feedback that they can read for next time.

Presentation: Eye Contact, Body Language, Voice

Project: Organization, Content, Elaboration, Creativity, Pictures

You will need to write down 2 pieces of feedback for each of your classmates.

1. a compliment 2. constructive criticism

example of a compliment: Jordyn, I really liked that you had great eye contact throughout your presentation.

NOT an example of a compliment: The presentation was great.

Why? A compliment should refer to a specific part of the presentation that your peer did exceedingly well in.

example of constructive criticism: A suggestion to improve your presentation is to look at the audience more.

NOT an example of constructive criticism: You were terrible at making eye contact with your audience.

Why? Constructive Criticism is a helpful piece of advice that will help your peer improve his/her presentation next time. Simply criticizing will not provide room for improvement, nor is it considerate of feelings.
